What Words do You Want in YOUR Kitchen?

Space, Storage, State-of-the-Art...

O picture is worth a thousand words. While looking at the "before" picture of this kitchen, words like - dated, old, cramped, dark, dysfunctional all come to mind. Looking at the "after" photo, one thinks - wow, spacious, functional, bright, inviting. Through these pictures, the story of a homeowner's desire to improve her surroundings unfolds.

The kitchen transformation took place because the client was ready to make the change and update her home for a more efficient and enjoyable lifestyle. The process was very clear and straightforward. Options were presented for remodeling the kitchen within her budget. The client was surprised to discover that the kitchen and surrounding areas could be reconfigured to give her everything she desired. Things like an eat-in kitchen, more counter space, brighter lighting, a practical and purposeful layout, and abundant storage were all packaged in a sleek modern design with new appliances.

Once the layout was agreed upon, the client was guided through the selection process and construction began. Remodeling the space occurred in an orderly fashion that left a neat and clean area at the end of each day. When the project was complete, the client was elated — everything she desired was obtained.

The certified remodelers of Callahan & Peters, Inc. will help you develop the right picture to describe your space. This design/remodel firm specializes in bringing unique results to their clients using the most innovative techniques in the industry.
